

Chameleon Flipping Table

Your daily Stand-up at 10:00, around the table with your client at 11:00

Whiteboard table

The Chameleon Flipping Table is the ideal piece of furniture for organisations that want to creatively challenge their teams! The best ideas are born at the drawing board. Not just figuratively, in this case, but literally as well.

The tabletop has a pleasant low-gloss appearance and is highly erasable for whiteboard markers. Our own research suggests that users tend to write away from themselves, meaning their arms won't accidentally drag through the ink.

“I want to be able to switch at will from a seated meeting to a stand-up meeting in the conference room. That way, I can use that room to its full potential. I don't adjust the meeting type to the available setting... I adjust the setting to the desired meeting type.”

These could be the words of many a team manager that wants to make the most of each meeting.

Do you prefer a stand-up meeting after all? Hardly surprising, as research suggests that a stand-up meeting is so efficient that it yields a time gain of one third on average.
